Gifted Resources News

LIVE LINKS

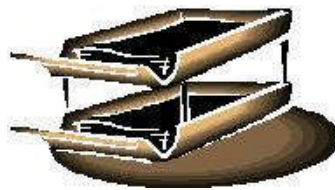

I have been experimenting with the updated version of the PDF creator my husband installed for me and think that I am able to make the links to websites "live" now. However for opening the files which are found on the InTray page of Gifted Resources website it will still be necessary to go to the InTray as the files will not open from within the email newsletter.

MEMORIES....

Our youngest, Christian turned 21 last week and we celebrated with a family lunch. I looked through his baby and childhood photos and his artworks and writing to make a PowerPoint presentation for the occasion. His best friend, my tech guru, Jamie had also created a very amusing presentation. I will put an entry on my personal blog shortly when time permits.

ONE THING LEADS TO ANOTHER

I am busy writing an article about planning provisions for 2E students based on De Bono's 6 Action Shoes and decided that I needed to purchase the book. While looking for the book I found The De Bono Institute in Blackburn (link in Interesting Websites) They suggested Dymocks booksellers who were not able to help but suggested I try BookFound for out-of-print books (link in Interesting Websites) It was a free phone call, I purchased the book over the phone and it arrived three days later- I'm impressed!

WHAT'S IN THE IN TRAY?

These items have been received recently and can be found in the In Tray which is located on the Home page of Gifted Resources Website www.giftedresources.org

GIFTED RESOURCES EVENTS

FEBRUARY

GUEST SPEAKER - ALISON BROWN

Tsunamis in the sandpit

Social, Emotional and Cognitive complexities of Gifted Children
(An Information Seminar for Parents & Teachers)

Friday 20 February 2009

7.00pm for 7.30pm start

Centre for the Exceptional Learner Luther College Plymouth Rd Croydon Vic 3136

Cost : 20.00 (Members of OEGEN no charge)

Gifted children display thought processes, social interactions and emotional responses well beyond their years, and often in far greater proportion than would be expected. A simple play date in the sandpit can escalate to tsunami levels within minutes – literally or figuratively! Advanced cognitive skills and an intense knowledge base could lead to a 4 year old creating their own version of a “sandpit tsunami” complete with excess water and major destruction! More figuratively, however, a tsunami in the sandpit is also possible on an emotional level. Advanced cognitive skills, reasoning ability and heightened emotional intensity set gifted children apart. Regular social situations and interactions with other children often result in misunderstandings, frustrations or angry outbursts. Understanding the way in which gifted children differ socially, emotionally and cognitively can better equip parents to meet their needs, and to ‘calm the storms’ when things become difficult.

Alison Brown is a registered psychologist, an experienced teacher and a parent. She has presented at a number of state, national and international conferences in the areas of technology, gifted education, and psychology, and has provided extensive consultation and training programs to schools in Victoria, New South Wales, Queensland, Switzerland and Germany. Alison brings experience from both an educational and psychological background. Having taught for seven years at Methodist Ladies’ College, and worked as a school psychologist at Kincoppal-Rose Bay, Sydney, she has first-hand experience in recognising and catering for the social, emotional, and academic needs of students. Alison has been a committee member and Vice President of the Victorian Association for Gifted and Talented Children over six years. She currently runs a private practice in Melbourne, working particularly in the areas of parenting, counselling and gifted children

TERM 1 SPEAKER

Jodie Valpied

(MEd (Spec Needs), PostgradDipPsych, COGE, BA/BTeach)

"Gifted Introverts from the Inside Out"

Thursday 12 March, 2009, 7.45 - 9.30pm

Introversion is one of Western Society's least valued personality types, and one of the more common personality types found among the gifted population. This personality type stems from physiological traits fundamental to the day-to-day functioning of many gifted children. The implications of these traits extend well beyond the realm of social interaction, impacting areas as diverse as learning styles, energy levels and noise tolerance. These children bring a special gift to humanity, if that gift is allowed to flourish. Yet they are often incorrectly labeled as shy, antisocial, neurotic or having Asperger's Disorder.

This session will explore the physiological underpinnings of introversion, along with characteristics and needs that stem from this physiology. Practical strategies will be given for teaching and parenting introverted children and teens, helping them gain the most from classroom, home and other settings. No prior knowledge expected.

School personnel and parents are encouraged to attend.

Venue: Southern Community Church of Christ,

Corner Chesterville Rd & Pine St, Cheltenham (Mel ref 86 J1)

From Dinah Waldie Boroondara Gifted Network

Attached is information about the first meeting of 2009. It will be an informal event providing an opportunity to meet other teachers and parents and share ideas, strategies and experiences. Last time we had a meeting such as this, all agreed it was incredibly valuable and a wonderful opportunity to network, so do please join us.

Last year I asked for interested parties to consider joining me on a steering committee to plan the activities of the Network. I did receive some expressions of interest but due to my broken ankle and subsequent absence from work we did not get around to meeting. It is important that we have a steering committee that is representative of the various groups within the network - preschool, primary, secondary, independent, Government and Catholic systems. If you would like to contribute to the Network in this way please e-mail me.

Best wishes

Dinah Waldie

ALISON BROWN RIDING THE WAVES PARENTS FORUM

Living with bright and capable young children can be an absolute delight, as they quickly develop and become increasingly aware of the world around them. This awareness and rapid development, however, often brings with it a heightened intensity in social, emotional and physical issues. Encountering frustrations and perfectionism in a 2 year old, an intense sense of fairness and social justice in a 4 year old, and an insatiable thirst for knowledge in a 6 year old can leave parents wondering how best to meet the needs of bright little children who seem to be “marching to the beat of a different drum”.

“Riding the Waves” is a monthly forum for parents of emotionally intense and gifted children. With a range of topics and techniques presented each month, this forum provides an opportunity to meet and discuss issues with parents sharing similar experiences. Come along to the topics that interest you or whichever months you are free.

As well as general discussion, these monthly meetings will cover topics as follows:

- ❖ Perfectionism (February 2009)
- ❖ Social interactions (March 2009)
- ❖ Thirst for knowledge (April 2009)
- ❖ Organisational skills (May 2009)
- ❖ Obsessive behaviours (June 2009)
- ❖ Extra curricular activities (July 2009)
- ❖ Modifying school and homework task

Kinglake Fire Complex Animal Fund

Local doctors and vets have said that the value of pets in times of stress cannot be overestimated. Although many immediate needs are being met, it is the next few months which will prove incredibly difficult for the children and families in the area, as the reality of their losses sink in and they try to rebuild normal lives. This fund will service the needs of families in Kinglake, Kinglake West, Strathewen, St Andrews, Flowerdale, Pheasant Creek, Arthurs Creek and surrounding districts.

A fund has been set up through the Hurstbridge Veterinary Clinic and vets, Dr Chris Andrews and Dr Adam Russell. The practice has extended their long term policy of free care for injured wildlife to all injured animals - wildlife and pets. They are also distributing donated food to help with surviving pets.

Why money is needed:

As more injured pets and wildlife come in over the next week, there is an urgent need for supplies such as anaesthetic gas, bandages, pain relief and antibiotics. Pets which survived the fire will also need baskets, kennels, toys ... all the things that pets need.

But the pain will not stop when the media flurry dies down. Many children have lost their pets. When they are ready for a new pet, the fund will buy them new puppies and kittens, or other animals, along with providing all the associated needs for the long term: vaccination, worming, leads, blankets, baskets, toys, food. This promise will give them something to look forward to.

Chris and Adam will organise to source the right animals and supplies at a discount price and provide their services at cost. The value of a new baby animal to care for, to these children, could be immeasurable. Details may be checked with the Hurstbridge Veterinary Clinic on (03) 9718 1515.

Donations may be made to the Kinglake Fire Complex Animal Fund, Bendigo Bank:

Customer number: 22814743/1401
