Gifted Resources News

The Month of Maybe

During the first week of each month the Facebook Brilliant Chaos group <http://www.facebook.com/groups/brilliantchaosonline/> issues a Creating Challenge. This month I have set myself the creating challenge 'The Month of Maybe' in which I will endeavour to do as many as possible of the things on my To Do List. I have made myself a Padlet sticky notes page at <http://padlet.com/wall/zbanwzr95y> to help me stay on track.

In this issue of the newsletter you will find a report on the VAGTC EmpowerED conference and news of coming events.

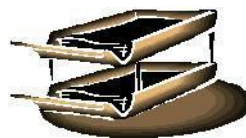

Sprite's Site blog did not make the finals of the Best Australian Blogs competition; however I enjoyed participating.

Sneh Roy's Cook Republic <http://www.cookrepublic.com/> was the overall winner of the competition. The winners of all the categories are announced here <http://www.writerscentre.com.au/bloggningcomp/2013competition.html>

Congratulations to all the winning blogs.

And a big thank you for all the support and kind wishes Sprite and company received from our readers. We hope you will keep on visiting.

VAGTC EmpowerED for Giftedness Conference

Last week I was very fortunate to be able to attend the VAGTC EmpowerEd for Giftedness conference which was held at CQ Function Centre Queens St Melbourne on Tuesday 23 and Wednesday 24

The conference program can be read here

<http://www.vagtc.asn.au/sites/vagtc.asn.au/files/Program%20at%20a%20Glance.pdf>.

The main theme of the conference was differentiation and the keynote speakers were Susan Winebrenner from the US <http://www.susanwinebrenner.com/> and Debbie Youd from Tasmania. It was wonderful to hear Susan Winebrenner speak as her books are favourites of mine and ones I often recommend.

Susan Winebrenner's opening keynote presentation was titled Compacting and Differentiation are Easy! Her closing mini keynote was The most equitable way to provide gifted education services – The Schoolwide Cluster Grouping Model.

The conference also saw the launch of the 'New opportunities for the gifted and talented directions paper'

<http://www.education.vic.gov.au/school/teachers/teachingresources/diversity/Pages/gifted.aspx>

This directions paper builds on the findings of the Victorian Parliament's 2012 Inquiry into the Education of Gifted and Talented Students (the inquiry) by signaling a renewed focus on the needs of gifted and talented children and young people, their educators and their families. For the final report for the 2012 inquiry, see

<http://www.parliament.vic.gov.au/etc/inquiries/article/1341>

Jewel Topsfield wrote about this in The Age newspaper

<http://www.theage.com.au/opinion/political-news/more-state-schools-may-cater-for-gifted-students-20130422-2iaqr.html>

David Southwick MP, chair of the Parliamentary Inquiry launched the 'New opportunities for the gifted and talented directions paper' and presented a conference session titled Unmasking Economic Potential of our Gifted Students in Victoria.

Sarah Humphreys of ACARA spoke about newly added provisions for adjusting the National Curriculum to meet the needs of gifted students See

Gifted and Talented

<http://www.australiancurriculum.edu.au/StudentDiversity/Gifted-and-talented-students>

Student diversity and the Australian curriculum

<http://www.australiancurriculum.edu.au/StudentDiversity/Pdf/StudentDiversity>

A Parent Seminar was run in conjunction with the conference on the morning of Tuesday 23. At this seminar Dr Anne Grant spoke about research into giftedness in early childhood and the factors impacting the transition to school.

Lynne Maher, the president of the Tasmanian Association for the Gifted, and her son Jonathan Geeves spoke about acceleration and the various types of acceleration which Jonathan had experienced. It was very helpful for the parents to hear about the social/emotional as well as the academics aspects of acceleration from the student's point of view.

Susan Winebrenner also spoke to the parents covering many topics including differentiating instruction for gifted students, perfectionism and an anecdote about the 12 Minute A.

I also attended an excellent practical workshop presented by Andrea Blake and Kylie Graham titled Differentiating for Gifted Learners within an Inquiry Framework , a session presented by Christine Ireland titled Making differentiation work for gifted students: strategies, options and pitfalls and a session presented by Mark Smith describing the provisions for gifted and talented students at Macedon Grammar School titled Using Differentiation to Build Classroom Engagement and Uncover Student Talent

Conference participants were also treated to a display of fencing by Gabriel Spano and Sam Gilfillan of VRI Fencing Club <https://www.vrifencing.com/> organised by Kayt Spano and Dr Zoltan Vilagosh directors of Fencing Victoria

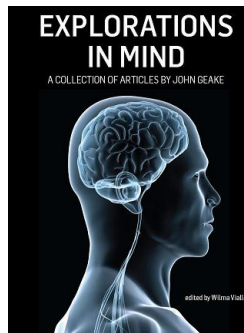

http://www.sportingpulse.com/assoc_page.cgi?assoc=3825&pID=1

Kayt describes fencing as 'physical chess' and says that it can be a sport for gifted students which builds physical co-ordination and strength while appealing to their mental strategic and problem solving skills.

There were also performances of Ave Maria and Gloria by singers from Salesian College, music from Mary McKillop College Leongatha, hip hop dancers from Damm School of Dance <http://www.daamdance.com.au/> <http://www.daamdance.com.au/news.html> and the songs "Don't write us off" and "If you could see the world through my eyes" written and performed by twice exceptional students from Kids Like Us <http://www.kidslikeus.org.au/>

A Tribute to Professor John Geake was given by Jonah Oliver and the book Explorations in mind A collection of articles by John Geake edited by Wilma Vialle was launched

At the Conference Dinner life membership of the VAGTC was conferred on Christine Ireland in recognition and appreciation of her excellent commitment, contributions and service to the VAGTC and gifted education over many years.

Christine Ireland

Christine Ireland is a past president of the Victorian Association of Gifted and Talented Children, has published several articles in that association's magazine, and a chapter in Let The Tall Poppies Flourish and is currently a Director on the Australian Association for the Education of the Gifted and Talented. Christine has been a full-time Secondary teacher for twenty years, and is currently the Gifted Education Coordinator at Caulfield Grammar Wheelers Hill Junior School. Christine also lectured at Melbourne University in the Gifted Education units of the Master of Education. She has completed her Master of Education, a post graduate Certificate of Gifted Education, and two Harvard Certificates of Education, and is currently studying for her Doctorate of Education. Christine has been the director of gifted education at two secondary schools and two primary schools. Christine's passion is providing educational opportunities that allow children to reach their full potential.

I enjoyed the experience of participating in the conference which ran very smoothly and catching up with friends and colleagues and also meeting and learning from so many people who are passionate about the education of gifted students.
